Bitch Owner Responsibilities:

Bitch owner will be responsible for all costs incurred to complete the breeding, including, but not limited to: transport fees for bitch, AI supplies, AI procedures, semen shipping fees and supplies, hormone testing of bitch, and vet care required for breeding or incurred during stay with stud owner. Stud owner is not liable for accidental injury to bitch during her stay with stud owner or during breeding; bitch owner shall cover all costs associated with treating any accidental injury to bitch. It is the responsibility of the bitch owner to inform the stud owner of any illness of or prior injury to bitch, and also if bitch has a history of aggression during breeding.

It is recommended that progesterone testing be completed for the female to determine optimal breeding time for natural breeding. Progesterone testing is required for fresh chilled semen breeding. It is strongly recommended that an experienced and proficient reproductive vet be used for fresh chilled semen breedings to help determine optimal breeding timing and perform the AI. It is also strongly recommended that TCI or surgical insemination be done if using fresh chilled semen. It is also the responsibility of the bitch owner to convey to the stud owner and/or reproductive vets used, when the bitch begins her heat and results of all hormone testing completed. It is the responsibility of the bitch owner to ensure the stud owner knows when semen needs to be shipped if breeding by AI, before 5pm CST the day before shipment is needed. It is the responsibility of the bitch owner to inform the stud owner when bitch will be delivered and picked up if natural breeding. It is the responsibility of the bitch owner to ensure the bitch has not been bred prior to coming to this stud for breeding, and ensuring she is not bred after stud service is provided by this stud.

Bitch owner is responsible for providing food for the female for the duration of her stay with the stud owner.

Bitch owner agrees that ALL puppies resulting from this breeding, living at 2 weeks of age, will be included in the litter registration application with the American Kennel Club. Stud owner is not required to sign litter registration application if ALL puppies are not included in the application.

Bitch owner should have a secondary stud chosen if this stud is unable to complete this breeding due to schedule conflict or inadequate semen.

Stud Service:

Stud fee is $1000; $300 service fee due before semen is shipped or when bitch is presented to stud for service, $700 due within two weeks of the birth of the litter, before stud owner signs the litter registration application. Stud owner is not obligated to sign litter registration application without full payment of stud fee and other fees incurred while female was in care of the stud owner, and collection and shipping fees. Shipping extender is included in the stud fee. 3 live births are guaranteed or a re-breeding will be offered.

Re-breeding consists of a natural breeding at no additional cost to bitch owner or stud owner, OR fresh chilled semen breeding with collection and shipping costs covered by bitch owner. Bitch owner will have one year to complete the re-breeding; after which time, stud owner is no longer obligated to provide re-breeding service. If less than 3 live births are produced with the re-breeding, the fee is $200 per puppy, in addition to the $300 service fee already paid. If no live births are produced with the re-breeding service, no further charges will be incurred by the bitch owner, an additional re-breeding will not be offered.

Side-by-side AI may be utilized instead of natural mating at stud owner's discretion. Stud owner will provide the new, sterile AI equipment for the stud service of each bitch if side-by-side AI is utilized. Stud owner will make every effort to complete side-by-side AI herself; if unable to complete, veterinary services will be used to complete the AI; veterinary fees for AI will be owed by the bitch owner. Every attempt will be made to achieve 2 "ties." No charge for boarding the female for 7 days; after the first 7 days, a $15 boarding fee per day will be charged until the female is picked up by her owner.

Stud owner is responsible for reporting to bitch owner the quality of semen and if semen is not of adequate quality and quantity at collection for shipping. If stud is unable to complete the service due to inadequate semen quality or quantity, no fee shall be charged to the bitch owner.

Stud owner will be responsible providing adequate care and housing for the bitch to be serviced. Stud owner will be responsible for informing bitch owner of any problems that may occur during her stay with the stud owner, including the need for veterinary care. Stud owner will be responsible for informing bitch owner of number and type of breedings that are completed with this bitch.

Stud owner is responsible for informing bitch owner if stud service cannot be completed due to schedule conflict, either due to another bitch being serviced or stud being away for campaigning or training. Stud service is provided on a first come, first served basis. Stud owner will decide if more than one bitch can be serviced in the same time period. But bitch owners will be informed and allowed to determine if they wish to proceed with the breeding at this time. If no collection and shipment has been completed for service of this bitch, then no charge will be incurred to bitch owner. However, if bitch owner does not inform stud owner of choice of declining the breeding, and collection of stud occurs, and semen is determined to be of adequate quality and quantity for shipping, all fees for collection, extension, and shipment packaging shall be owed by bitch owner to stud owner.

If bitch requirements and bitch owner responsibilities are not met, the stud owner is not obligated to sign the litter registration application. By signing this document, bitch owner and stud owner agree to abide by all clauses of this contract.
